

FACTS

WHAT DOES THE BANK OF UNION DO WITH YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION?

Why?

Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?

The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- Social Security Number and Account Balance
- Payment History and Overdraft History
- Credit History and Checking Account Information

When you are no longer our customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.

How?

All financial companies need to share customers' personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customers' personal information; the reasons The Bank of Union chooses to share; and whether you can limit this sharing.

Who we are

Who is providing this notice?

THE BANK OF UNION

What we do

How does The Bank of Union protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.

While all employees are trained in customer confidentiality, employees only have access to information required for their job functions.

How does The Bank of Union collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example, when you

- Open an account or Show your driver's license
- Apply for a loan or Give us your contact information
- Give us your employment information

We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates, or other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing?

Federal law gives you the right to limit only

- sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness
- affiliates from using your information to market to you
- sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing.
